Clinical Symposium

“Biological Contributions to Child Psychiatry”

Friday 27th July 2007

Visit of Professor Xavier Castellanos

Xavier Castellanos is a paediatrician and child/adolescent psychiatrist who founded and directs the Phyllis Green and Randolph Cōwen Institute for Paediatric Neuroscience at the NYU School of Medicine Child Study Centre, where he is the Brooke and Daniel Neidich Professor of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry, Professor of Radiology, Director of Research on Child and Adolescent Mental Health and Research Psychiatrist at the Nathan Kline Institute for Psychiatric Research. His work aims at elucidating the neuroscience of ADHD through structural and functional brain imaging studies, collaborating on molecular genetic studies, and coordinating an interdisciplinary network of translational investigators (the ADHD Neuroscience Network). Dr. Castellanos chaired the NIH 'Initial Review Group' (Study Section) on Developmental Psychopathology and Developmental Disabilities from 2005-2007 and is chairing the revision of the diagnostic criteria for externalizing disorders for the forthcoming edition of DSM-V, projected for 2012.
